REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF THE ASSOCIATION

FOR SOMETHING more than a decade, it has been my privilege to serve the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools as its Secretary. Those years have been happy ones. They have also been years weighted with many critical problems. World War II and the years immediately preceding and the years following produced many significant challenges to education. They were years of challenge to this Association to use its influences in bringing about needed changes in our educational philosophy, our methods and techniques of instruction, our curricula at both the secondary and collegiate levels, and our policies and procedures in educational administration. Our member institutions have shown unusual capacity to adjust themselves to each recurring crisis as it has arisen. Our leadership has been conscious of its obligations and has manifested foresight in its every effort to project right solutions to the problems as they have arisen. Your Commission members, your numerous committees, and the Executive Committee itself have labored without ceasing to make this Association an effective agency in carrying out the responsibilities for which it has stood since its first organization in 1895. And what is of the greatest significance is the fact that in all instances it has been for all of us a "labor of love." We would not have it otherwise. We rejoice with you in the privileges we have had to serve together in the cause of education.

For several years your Secretary has reviewed at each Annual Meeting the many accomplishments of this Association. Those accomplishments are no less in evidence today. They are fresh in your own minds as they are in mine. We can all take just pride in what has been achieved. The years immediately ahead are going to be very significant years—yes, critical years. They will require of the Association an unwavering fidelity to the ideals and purposes underlying our numerous activities. As your President for the coming year, I shall pledge my every effort to continue the fine work of those who have served us so well in times past.

At the annual business meeting held on the closing day, there were a number of actions taken the character of which merit presentation in your Secretary's report. These follow ad serialim:

1. The Association gave its approval to a recommendation coming from the Commission on Colleges and Universities which reads as follows:

a. When an institution applied for accreditation it would be asked to submit evidence that it had been engaged in a program of self-evaluation. This evidence would be provided in a comprehensive report prepared by the institution in which it analyzed in detail its operations, their appropriateness to its avowed objectives, the elements of strength and weakness, and the institution's reasons for believing it should be accredited. Where, in the opinion of the institution, certain of the criteria normally employed were not appropriate to its particular situation, it would state its reasons for questioning the criteria. The institution would also provide whatever factual data the Commission, operating through its Secretary, might request.

b. The submission of the institution's report would be followed by the visit of an examining committee, if in the opinion of the Board of Review, the institution's report and the other information provided indicated the likelihood that the institution was ready for accreditation. The examiners would have been provided in advance of the visit with a copy of the institution's report and the other information secured by the Secretary.

c. The examiners would submit a report of their findings based on their appraisal of the institution in terms of the evaluative criteria we employ.

d. The Board of Review would meet with representatives of the institution and the examining committee to discuss both the institution's report and the examiners' report. Following this meeting the Board of Review would make its recommendation to the Commission.

e. A procedure similar to that outlined in the preceding paragraphs would be followed in those cases where it is necessary to reappraise an institution already holding membership in the Association.

It should be emphasized that this proposal carries no implication of a lowering of the level of institutional quality required for accreditation. The only effect of more active institutional participation on the decision as to whether or not the institution should be accredited would be that the Board of Review and the Commission would have an additional basis for judging institutional quality.

2. The Association gave its approval to the admission to membership of the following institutions of higher learning:

Alverno College, Milwaukee, Wisconsin
 Bluefield State College, Bluefield, West Virginia
 Central State Teachers College, Stevens Point, Wisconsin
 College of Emporia, Emporia, Kansas
 Kansas City Kansas Junior College, Kansas City, Kansas
 Mercy College, Detroit, Michigan
 Moline Community College, Moline, Illinois
 Oklahoma City University, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma
 Pueblo Junior College, Pueblo, Colorado
 State Teachers College, Platteville, Wisconsin

3. Two institutions, Arkansas Polytechnic College of Russellville, Arkansas, and the New Mexico Military Institute of Roswell, New Mexico, heretofore accredited as junior colleges were approved as four-year colleges conferring the baccalaureate degree.

4. Three institutions, Macalester College, St. Paul, Minnesota, Rosary College, River Forest, Illinois, and the Rose Polytechnic Institute, of Terre Haute, Indiana were given approval as institutions offering the Master's degree.

5. The Association approved a recommendation to continue De Paul University of Chicago on the accredited list for the next two years.

6. Upon the recommendation of the Commission on Secondary Schools, the Association approved the admission to membership of 73 secondary schools. Eight schools were automatically dropped by reason of their voluntary withdrawal from membership and four schools were dropped by reason of failure to meet necessary conditions of membership.

7. It was reported that the current membership of secondary schools stands at 3,156. Of these, 97 schools were given warnings and 573 were advised by reason of minor departures from conditions that must obtain if a school is to be unqualifiedly approved.

8. The reports coming from the Commission on Research and Service are indicative of a very healthy state of affairs. An exceedingly active leadership in this Commission is very much in evidence. The character of its program is shown in various publications emanating from that Commission (Unit Studies) as well as in special reports in THE QUARTERLY.

9. A formal proposal for the amendment of Article III, Section 1, of the constitution was unanimously approved. By that action the State of Montana is separated from the North Central Association and becomes a part of the Northwest Association. The request for the change as made by Montana should resolve numerous difficulties that have existed over a period of several years. Our Association bespeaks a very happy relationship for Montana in the Northwest Association in years to come.

10. The Association gave its approval to the recommendation of the Executive Committee that the next Annual Meeting of the Association be held in Chicago at the Palmer House, March 31 to April 4, 1952.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMISSION ON COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

NORMAN BURNS, Secretary

I. THE REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

THE COMMISSION on Colleges and Universities has long operated on the principle that the emphasis in accrediting should be on qualitative appraisal of institutional achievement rather than on the imposition of arbitrarily conceived quantitative standards. A second principle of accrediting to which most of us would subscribe is that the emphasis in accrediting should be on the stimulation of self-generated and self-conducted programs of institutional study and experimentation looking toward improvement in the educational process rather than on the policing of higher education.

These are good principles. I believe they provide the means by which our agency can contribute to the improvement of higher education. They imply, however, a higher degree of democratization of the accrediting process than, in my judgment, we have so far achieved. Let us examine actual practice in the light of these principles.

The adoption by the Commission on Colleges and Universities a number of years ago of the principle of qualitative evaluation was hailed as a marked improvement in the procedure for accrediting higher institutions. It is true that quantitative measures were still employed, but only those measures were used which were found, through careful scientific study, to discriminate among institutions on the basis of quality. However, one has no assurance that quantitative measures valid at a given time will continue to be valid. On the contrary, there is good reason to believe that the very use of particular measures over a period of time destroys their validity inasmuch as institutions tend to concentrate their attention on effecting improvement in their standing on these specific items without necessarily strengthening the total program. If quantitative measures are not to become outmoded they must be continually re-evaluated. This we have not done in any systematic fashion.

In putting the qualitative idea of accrediting into practice we also set up a large number of qualitative criteria which cannot be reduced to quantitative terms. Criteria of this kind admittedly and inevitably abandon any pretense of scientific objectivity; they depend on subjective judgment. Under our present accrediting procedures, primary reliance is, of necessity, placed on the judgments of the examiners. Our examiners are persons of high competence who make every effort to eliminate personal bias in carrying out their very difficult assignment. Nevertheless, even persons of high competence and who are free of prejudices will differ in their judgments. The fallibility of human judgment can be a serious matter when the status of an institution in the educational world is at stake.

I have come to hold the view that a democratization of the accrediting process which would permit the institutions being appraised to play an active role in the process is essential if the inevitable errors in judgment are to be minimized. But before developing this statement let us consider the implications of the second of the principles mentioned earlier, that the emphasis in the accrediting process should be on the stimulation of institutional study and experimentation looking toward continuing improvement in the educational process rather than on the policing of higher education.

I do not think our present practices maximize stimulation and minimize policing to the extent they should. Some of our institutions do, it is true, engage in a program of self-study in anticipation of the visit of the examining committee, but the accrediting process does not provide direct encouragement of this type of activity. Our present procedure is as follows. An institution submits its application for accreditation. If it is the kind of institution which falls within the purview of our Association, its application is accepted and it is asked to provide a large amount of detailed information on schedules provided for that purpose. If it continues with its application, the institution is then visited by an examining committee which checks on the data that have been submitted, gathers additional information, makes its judgments and reports its findings to the Board of Review. The institution has nothing to do but wait for the decision to be handed down. Its part in the process is purely passive.

This procedure is not without its stimulatory aspects. I have been told many times by the officers of applying institutions that the gathering and assembling of the required data was a valuable experience. The institution may profit from whatever comments the examiners make during the course of the inspection. The report of the examiners should be a helpful guide to future action. Nevertheless, what stimulation may be provided is incidental. The major outcome expected of the accrediting process is the determination of the status of the institution, and the process is set up with this end in view. The emphasis is still largely on policing rather than the stimulation of self-improvement.

I made the statement earlier that the principles of qualitative appraisal and institutional stimulation can be more effectively put into practice only if the accrediting process is democratized. I should like now to consider the ways in which this democratization can be brought about.

Democratization as used here involves a larger measure of institutional participation both in the original formulation and revision of criteria to be employed, and in the operating of the accrediting process itself. In the formulation and revision of criteria we have made very little provision for direct institutional participation. New or revised criteria are first formulated and approved by the Commission, and are then presented to the entire membership for approval before they are put into operation. Such approval is, however, secured in a large general meeting in which there is little opportunity for anything other than pro forma acceptance of the Commission's recommendations.

I believe our procedures in this regard would be strengthened if they were revised as follows: new or revised criteria would, as now, be formulated by small group action; after tentative approval of the Commission had been secured the statement of proposed criteria would be distributed among the member institutions with a request for reactions as to their validity when applied to a particular institution; in the event the proposed criteria involved a major change, the way should be open for sectional group meetings, workshops or some other arrangement whereby the tentative criteria could be discussed by institutional representatives. Only after the opportunity for such extended consideration had been provided would the criteria be adopted by the Commission.

Acceptance of the idea of widespread participation in the formulation of evaluative criteria and establishment of the channels for securing it would encourage the kind of continuing reappraisal of the criteria which is essential if a static condition is to be avoided and the necessary degree of flexibility in the accrediting process maintained.

As I have pointed out, the institution's role in the accrediting process is, under present procedures, an almost completely passive one. I have expressed certain misgivings as to the way in which the qualitative approach is being put into practice. I have also indicated my doubts that the accrediting process actually emphasizes institutional stimulation toward self-improvement rather than the policing function. I believe that the answer lies in large part in more active participation in the accrediting process on the part of the institution being appraised. With that in mind I should like to suggest the following procedure:

1. When an institution applied for accreditation it would be asked to submit evidence that it had been engaged in a program of self-evaluation. This evidence would be provided in a comprehensive report prepared by the institution in which it analyzed in detail its operations, their appropriateness to its avowed objectives, the elements of strength and weakness, and the institution's reasons for believing it should be accredited. Where, in the opinion of the institution, certain of the criteria normally employed were not appropriate to its particular situation, it would state its reasons for questioning the criteria. The institution would also provide whatever factual data the Commission, operating through its Secretary, might request.

2. The submission of the institution's report would be followed by the visit of an examining committee if, in the opinion of the Board of Review, the institution's report and the other information provided indicated the likelihood that the institution was ready for accreditation. The examiners would have been provided in advance of the visit with a copy of the institution's report and the other information secured by the Secretary.

3. The examiners would submit a report of their findings based on their appraisal of the institution in terms of the evaluative criteria we employ.

4. The Board of Review would meet with representatives of the institution and the examining committee to discuss both the institution's report and the examiners' report. Following this meeting the Board of Review would make its recommendation to the Commission.

5. A procedure similar to that outlined in the preceding paragraphs would be followed in those cases where it is necessary to re-appraise an institution already holding membership in the Association.

It should be emphasized that this proposal carries no implication of a lowering of the level of institutional quality required for accreditation. The only effect of more active institutional participation on the decision as to whether or not the institution should be accredited would be that the Board of Review and the Commission would have an additional basis for judging institutional quality.

At its meeting just concluded the Commission on Colleges and Universities adopted in principle the foregoing proposal for putting into practice the principle of institutional participation in the accrediting process, and instructed the Secretary to put the plan into operation on an experimental basis. It is our hope that the adoption of this policy may constitute a significant forward step in the accomplishment of our major purpose—the improvement of higher education through stimulating institutions to study their programs and experiment with ways of strengthening them under procedures which would emphasize quality rather than quantity.

II. THE REPORT OF THE BOARD OF REVIEW AND THE COMMISSION ON COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

The Commission on Colleges and Universities met in Executive Session on March 28 and 29 to consider problems relating to the accreditation of institutions of higher education, to hear the report of the Board of Review, and to act on the recommendations of the Board. This is a report of the actions taken by the Board of Review and the Commission. In accordance with the Constitution of the Association those actions relating to matters of major policy and the accredited status of institutions are submitted to the Executive Committee for approval.

Surveys were made of eighteen higher institutions seeking accreditation by the Association this year. The Commission recommends that ten of these institutions be accredited. They are:

Alverno College, Milwaukee, Wisconsin
Bluefield State College, Bluefield, West Virginia
Central State Teachers College, Stevens Point, Wisconsin
College of Emporia, Emporia, Kansas
Kansas City Kansas Junior College, Kansas City, Kansas
Mercy College, Detroit, Michigan
Moline Community College, Moline, Illinois
Oklahoma City University, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma
Pueblo Junior College, Pueblo, Colorado
State Teachers College, Platteville, Wisconsin

A special comment should be made about the action on Kansas City Kansas Junior College. In the opinion of the Board of Review this institution does not carry on the type of program that should characterize institutions of this type. The local public junior college is coming to be a true community college with a breadth of purposes designed to meet a variety of community needs. Kansas City Kansas Junior College has not so broadened its purposes. It continues to place major emphasis on meeting the needs of the relatively limited number of youth who will continue their education in a senior college or professional school. The favorable action of the Commission was taken on the basis of satisfactory accomplishment of this limited purpose.

The Commission declines to recommend for accreditation the remaining eight newly applying higher institutions.

Unfavorable action was taken in one case primarily because of recent extension of the already over-extended curricular offerings into two fields of instruction which, if adequately handled, would be costly. This was done despite a very low level of financial support which was reflected in the size and quality of the staff and the condition of the physical plant.

Two institutions were denied accreditation because of failure to date to attain a position of financial stability. In both situations there is promise of more adequate support but until this promise is realized the soundness of the institution and the quality of education that can be carried on in the years ahead are open to serious question.

In another case unfavorable action was taken because of failure to utilize the considerable financial resources available for strengthening of the faculty. Salaries are very low and faculty inbreeding is serious. As a consequence of the lack of understanding as to the characteristics of a strong educational program, among which a strong faculty is certainly of major importance, the institution is lacking in intellectual vitality.

One institution was refused accreditation because, though it has tried, with limited success, to conform to the criteria set forth in the Manual, its conformance has been purely mechanical. The initiative and imagination essential to the building of a good educational institution were not present in this college.

In another instance accreditation was not possible because, despite adequate financial support and backing of the constituency, the college was below an acceptable level in the vital areas of curriculum and instruction and in the library.

In the two remaining cases the educational programs are inadequate in too many important respects to permit favorable action, though in both instances there is promise of improvement in the future.

Two institutions, Arkansas Polytechnic College, Russellville, Arkansas, and New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell, New Mexico, which are now accredited as junior colleges, were surveyed this year because of extension of their programs to the senior college level. The Commission recommends that these institutions be accredited as four-year colleges conferring the bachelor's degree.

Three institutions, Macalester College, St. Paul, Minnesota, Rosary College, River Forest, Illinois, and Rose Polytechnic Institute, Terre Haute, Indiana, which are now accredited as bachelor's degree-granting institutions, were surveyed this year because of extension of their programs to include the offering of the master's degree. The Commission recommends that these institutions be accredited as master's degree-granting institutions.

In the case of one institution which had extended its program to include the offering of the master's degree, the Board of Review and the Commission were not convinced that the institution's work, including the master's program, has as yet reached an acceptable level. The Commission recommends that this institution be continued on the accredited list as a bachelor's degree-granting institution for two years and that another survey be made in the Autumn of 1952. Particular attention will be given in that survey to the graduate program.

One member institution was surveyed this year because low standing on special reports suggested the possibility of general weakness in the institution. The Commission recommends that this institution be continued on the accredited list for two years and that another survey be made in the Autumn of 1952.

The two institutions to which reference has just been made are not named in this report since there is at this time no change in their accredited status.

De Paul University was requested by the Board of Review to file special reports in 1948 because of low standing in comparison with other master's degree-granting institutions on the basis of the 1947-48 Finance Study. These special reports on faculty, library, and finance showed continued low standing, and the Board of Review called for a complete survey of the University in 1949-50. The report of the survey disclosed weaknesses of a serious nature in a number of areas of the institution's program. However, final action was deferred for one year pending the results of a re-survey to be made in the Autumn of 1950. The report of the re-survey indicates that progress has been made in strengthening the institution in the year that has elapsed. However, the Commission wishes to assure itself that the improvements initiated during the year will be carried forward and that other urgently needed changes will be made in the program of the institution. It therefore recommends that De Paul University be continued on the accredited list for two years and that another survey be made in the Autumn of 1952.

Flat River Junior College, Flat River, Missouri, was requested to file special reports in 1948 because of low standing in the Finance Study of member institutions made in 1947-48. Special reports were again requested in 1949. Because of continued low standing, the Board of Review called for a survey to be made in the Autumn of 1950 on the basis of which a decision as to the accredited status of the institution would be made. The survey disclosed the existence of weaknesses throughout the institution so serious that the Commission finds it necessary to recommend that Flat River Junior College be removed from the list of accredited institutions effective July 1, 1951.

Ouachita College, Arkadelphia, Arkansas, had the guidance of advisory committees of the North Central Association for a number of years. The advisory committee that visited the institution in 1948 recommended that a complete survey of the institution be made in 1949 on the basis of which a decision would be reached as to the accredited status of the College. The survey was postponed until the Autumn of 1950. The report disclosed critical weaknesses in the areas of faculty, curriculum and instruction, library, and student personnel services. The seriousness of the weaknesses is accentuated by the existence of a program of intercollegiate athletics which drains funds from the other activities of the College. The supporting constituency has recently taken steps to provide the institution with more adequate support than it has had in the past. If the College continues to enjoy this higher level of support, it will be possible to strengthen the program. At the present time, however, conditions at Ouachita College are such that the Commission must recommend that the College be removed from the accredited list effective July 1, 1951.

III. STATEMENT OF POLICY RELATIVE TO THE ACCREDITING OF INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION¹

INTRODUCTION

THIS statement of policy defines certain principles that will be followed in accrediting institutions of higher education. It is stated in general terms and includes brief descriptions of those characteristics of an institution that will be examined as a basis of accreditation.

This statement of policy is supplemented by a manual which contains elaborations of the statements here given and detailed directions for the execution of the policy here set forth. Upon each important issue the Manual contains specific directions for the collection of information and such norms and criteria as will make possible a fair and intelligent evaluation of an institution.

MEMBERSHIP

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools will accredit and admit to membership as an institution of higher education a university, college, junior college, or institution of similar character that is judged to be of acceptable quality in matters later defined in this statement of principles. In the interpretation of this policy the liberty to integrate the whole or a part of a secondary school with a higher institution will be permitted.

Eligibility for membership will be based upon the character of an institution as a whole, including all the units within its organization. In the case of units, such as professional schools, that fall within the areas of other accrediting agencies, the actions of such accrediting agencies will be taken into account; but the Association does not bind itself to accept the judgment of these agencies.

PURPOSES OF ACCREDITING

The purposes of the Association in accrediting higher institutions are as follows:

1. To describe the characteristics of institutions worthy of public recognition as institutions of higher education
2. To guide prospective students in the choice of an institution of higher education that will meet their needs
3. To serve individual institutions as a guide in interinstitutional relationships, such as the transfer of students, the conduct of intercollegiate student activities, the placement of college graduates, and the selection of college faculties
4. To assist secondary schools in the selection of teachers and in advising students as to a choice of institutions, and to promote in any other ways the co-ordination of secondary and higher education
5. To stimulate through its accrediting practices the improvement of higher education in the territory of the North Central Association

BASES OF ACCREDITING

An institution will be judged for accreditation upon the basis of the total pattern it presents as an institution of higher education. While institutions will be judged in terms of each of the characteristics noted in this statement of policy, it is recognized that wide variations will appear in the degree of excellence attained. It is accepted as a principle of procedure that superiority in some characteristic may be regarded as compensating, to some extent, for deficiencies in other respects. The facilities and activities of an institution will be judged in terms of the purposes it seeks to serve. An institution is not held to a set of minimum standards, violation of any one of which jeopardizes its accreditation.

ELIGIBLE INSTITUTIONS

To be considered by the Association an institution must be incorporated as a nonprofit corporation devoted primarily to educational purposes and² legally authorized to confer collegiate degrees, or to offer a definitely described portion of a curriculum leading to such a degree, or to offer curriculums leading to an academic certificate. As a condition of eligibility an institution must include among its major functions the provision of general education as defined in the Manual. An approved institution is not barred from offering curriculums terminating at the end of one, two, or three years if they are taught at the level of collegiate instruction. The curriculum should presuppose the completion of a secondary-school curriculum as a condition for entrance to the institution, or secondary courses should be so integrated with the curriculum of the institution itself as to guarantee the educational progress of students to a definite stage of advancement beyond the completion of the usual secondary-school offering. Before an institution will be considered for accreditation, it must have been in operation long enough to make possible an evaluation of its program.

INDIVIDUALITY OF INSTITUTIONS

In its accrediting procedures the Association intends, within the general patterns of higher education, to observe such principles as will preserve whatever desirable individual qualities member institutions may have. While it is necessary to emphasize certain characteristics that are recognized as basic, such as the competence of the faculty, the representative character of the curriculum, effective administration, standards of student accomplishment, and financial adequacy, it is regarded as of prime importance also to protect such institutional variations as appear to be educationally sound. Even in these basic matters it is clear that considerable divergence from average or optimum conditions may occur without perceptibly detracting from the essential educational worth of an institution. Uniformity in every detail of institutional policies and practices is believed to be not only unnecessary but undesirable. Well-conceived experiments aimed to improve educational processes are considered essential to the growth of higher institutions and will be encouraged.

PUBLISHED LIST OF ACCREDITED INSTITUTIONS

The Association will publish one list of accredited institutions of higher education. Attached to the name of each institution in the list will be notations relative to such objective facts as are pertinent to a description of the characteristics of an institution.

CONTINUING REVISION OF POLICY AND PROCEDURES

The effect of this program of accrediting upon the welfare of institutions is the vital matter in its formulation and adoption. Continuous study leading to adjustment and improvement is accepted as necessary to the full fruition of the plan and will be considered an integral part of the regular accrediting activities of the Association. It shall be the policy of the Commission to study the operation of the principles given in this statement of policy and of the detailed procedures described in the Manual.

In pursuit of this policy there will be collected periodically from member institutions such information as will contribute to the procedures of accrediting and will reveal the changing character of these institutions. It shall be the duty of the Secretary, with the counsel of the Board of Review, to conduct biennially a study in one of the following three areas: (1) faculty competence, (2) library, (3) finance. Other areas may be studied as the Board of Review deems desirable, but furnishing of information for general studies outside the three areas mentioned shall be on a voluntary basis on the part of member institutions. The report forms shall be adapted to characteristics of the several types of institutions represented in the Association, and constructed in the simplest form consistent with usefulness.

CRITERIA OF INSTITUTIONAL EXCELLENCE

I. PURPOSES AND CLIENTELE

Recognition will be given to the fact that the purposes of higher education are varied and that a particular institution may devote itself to a limited group of objectives and ignore others, except that no institution will be accredited that does not include among its major functions the provision of general education.

Every institution that applies for accreditation will offer a definition of its purposes that will include the following items:

1. A statement of its objectives in general education
2. A statement of the occupational objectives, if any, for which it offers training
3. A statement of its objectives in individual development of students, including health and physical competence

This statement of purposes must be accompanied by a statement of the institution's clientele showing the geographical area, the governmental unit, or the religious groups from which it draws students and from which financial support is derived.

The facilities and activities of an institution will be judged in terms of the purposes it seeks to serve.

II. FACULTY

An institution should have a competent faculty, organized for effective service, and working under satisfactory conditions.

In determining the competence of the faculty, consideration will be given to the amount and kind of education that the individual members have received, to their experience in educational work and to their scholarship as evidenced by scholarly publications and contact with learned societies. Attention will be given to the faculty requirements implied by the purposes of the institution. The educational qualifications of faculties in colleges of similar type will be considered in judging the competence of a faculty.

Under faculty organization consideration will be given to the number of the faculty in ratio to the number of students, to representation of the teaching fields, to the training of instructors in their fields of instruction, to group organization of the faculty, to faculty meetings, and to faculty committees.

Under satisfactory working conditions consideration will be given to the following: salary status; tenure; instructional load; recruiting, selection, and appointment; aids to faculty growth; and provisions for leaves of absence, retirement, insurance, housing, and recreation and community life.

III. CURRICULUM

The curriculum of an institution should contain the subject-matter offerings implied by its statement of objectives. These offerings will include provisions for general education, advanced courses when the purposes of an institution require such offerings, and special courses appropriate to the specific objectives which the institution claims as among its functions.

The organization of the curriculum should be such as will best serve students of the type whose admission is implied by the declared purposes of the institution. Responsibility for the grouping of curriculum content, as by courses, departments, or divisions, will lie with institutions. The merit of a curriculum organization will be judged primarily by the manner in which it functions.

The curriculum of an institution will be regarded as effective only when the faculty includes instructors competent by reason of educational preparation to offer instruction in announced courses.

The institution should be able to show clearly that the curriculum as described in published statements is effectively administered in the case of individual students and that there is reasonable adherence to stated requirements in the awarding of degrees and certificates of progress.

IV. INSTRUCTION

An institution will be expected to show a sympathetic concern for the quality of instruction offered students and to give evidence of efforts to make instruction effective. Consideration will be given to the emphasis placed by the institution upon teaching competence in the selection and promotion of teachers, to the manner in which young instructors are inducted into teaching activities, to the aids that are provided as stimuli to the growth of individual members of the staff, to the institution's concern for high scholarship in students, to its emphasis upon the adjustment of the curriculum and teaching procedures to the abilities and interests of students, to efforts to make such examinations as are given more reliable and more accurate measures of student accomplishment, and to the alertness of the faculty to the instructional needs of students. Familiarity of the administration and faculty with current discussions of instructional problems at the college level and with recent experimental studies of college problems are further evidences of institutional alertness to the need for good college teaching.

V. LIBRARY

The library should provide the reading facilities needed to make the educational program effective, and there should be evidence that such facilities are appropriately used.

In estimating the adequacy of the library, attention will be given to the holdings of standard works of general and special reference, to the holdings of magazines and periodicals, and to the number and variety of books. The use of the library by students and by the faculty, library expenditures over a period of years, the salaries of the library staff, the qualifications of the staff, and the administrative practices relating to the library will all be considered in this connection.

VI. STUDENT PERSONNEL SERVICE

The policy of an institution in admitting students should be determined, on the one hand, by the purposes of the institution and, on the other, by the abilities, interests, and previous preparation of applicants. An institution should admit only those students whose educational interests are in harmony with the purposes of the institution and whose abilities and previous preparation qualify them to pursue the studies to which they are admitted.

The student personnel service of an institution should assist students to analyze and understand their problems and to adjust themselves to the life and work of the institution.

In evaluating the practices of an institution in the induction of students, attention will be given to the provision for preregistration guidance in cooperation with secondary schools, to the criteria used in the selection of students, to the administration of the stated entrance requirements, and to the arrangements for introducing new students to the life and work of the institution.

Consideration will be given to the means employed by an institution to assist students in the selection of courses and curriculums, in solving immediate academic problems, in furthering their scholastic development, and in making suitable vocational choices and preparation. Attention will also be given to the practices of an institution in counseling students about their health, their financial affairs, and their intimate personal affairs. The student's relation to extra-curriculum activities will also be studied. The practices of an institution in the provision and control of health services, in the housing and boarding of students, in the management of extra-curriculum activities, in the control of student conduct, and in financial assistance to students will be considered.

VII. ADMINISTRATION

The administrative organization should be suitable for accomplishing the objectives of the institution. Adequate provision should be made for the performance of all administrative functions by a personnel competent in their respective lines of activity.

In evaluating the administration of an institution, the emphasis will be placed upon the manner in which the functions are performed rather than upon the organization or the personnel, although the suitability of the organization and the competence of the personnel cannot be ignored. Attention will be given to such matters as the constitution and activities of the board of control; the general system of administrative control; the administration of academic matters, such as curriculum, faculty personnel, and instruction; the business administration, including financial accounting, budgeting, purchasing, the collection of revenues, and the supervision of the finances of student activities; the administration of the physical plant; the management of invested funds, if any; the administration of the student personnel service; the administration of special educational activities, if any, such as summer session or extension services; and the system of records and reports.

VIII. FINANCE

The institution should provide evidence of financial resources adequate for and effectively applied to the support of its educational program.

The items of information to be considered in determining the adequacy of the financial support are the expenditure per student for educational purposes,³ the stability of the financing, as indicated by the amount of income per student from stable sources, and the avoidance of burdensome indebtedness; and the procedures in financial accounting and reporting. Necessary adjustments will be allowed for contributed services of instructors and administrative officers in Catholic institutions.

IX. PHYSICAL PLANT

The physical plant, comprising grounds, buildings, and equipment, should be adequate for the efficient conduct of the educational program and should contribute effectively to the realization of the accepted objectives of the institution.

In judging the plant, consideration will be given to the adequacy and effectiveness of such features as site; general type of buildings; service systems; classrooms, laboratories, and other facilities appropriate to the special purposes of the institution; office facilities; library building; facilities for health service, recreation, and athletics; dormitories; auditoriums; assembly rooms; and the operation and care of the plant.

X. INSTITUTIONAL STUDY

An institution should continuously study its policies and procedures with a view to their improvement and should provide evidence that such useful studies are regularly made.

Consideration will be given to the means used by the institution in the investigation of its own problems, to the nature of the problems selected for study, to the staff making studies, to the methods employed, to the attitude of the administration toward and the support given to such studies, and to the manner in which the results are made available to the faculty, the administrative staff, and the interested clientele. It is recognized that such studies may be of many sorts, ranging from small inquiries of immediate service value to elaborately conducted experimental investigations. They may deal with any phase of the work of an institution, such as administration, curriculum, student personnel service, instruction, or any other matter of immediate or remote concern to the institution. An institution will be requested to provide typed or printed copies of completed studies.

XI. ATHLETICS

If the institution maintains a program of intercollegiate athletics, the same policies should prevail in regard to faculty, administration, and the management of students as are in force in connection with the other features of the institution.

In evaluating the athletic program, consideration will be given to the requirements for eligibility for participation; the distribution of scholarships, loan funds, grants of financial aid, and remunerative employment; the methods taken to safeguard the health of participants; the administrative organization; the financial control; and the competence of the staff.

IV. OPERATION OF THE ACCREDITING PROCEDURE

PROCEDURE TO BE FOLLOWED BY SENIOR INSTITUTIONS APPLYING FOR ACCREDITATION

A SENIOR institution seeking accreditation will initiate negotiations by filing a formal application with the Secretary of the Commission on Colleges and Universities on a blank especially provided for that purpose. This application will supply such information as will enable the Board of Review to decide upon the eligibility of the institution for consideration. The requirements for eligibility to membership in the Association are described in the Statement of Policy.

The application will be examined by the Secretary, who may request additional information upon any of the points if in his judgment such supplementary information is needed. In his discretion, the Secretary may advise the institution to proceed with its application. In that case he will proceed with the collection of such additional data as will be required for a full consideration of the application by the Board of Review, and will make the necessary arrangements for a survey of the institution. When the survey has been arranged, all other information in the possession of the Secretary will be turned over to the examiners. All the schedules of data will be included with the report of the examiners and filed with the Secretary for his use in presenting the case to the Board of Review.

In case the application indicates such unfavorable conditions in the institution as would likely lead to rejection of the application, the Board of Review may refuse to accept for consideration the application of the institution.

At the time an institution makes application for a survey it will pay a fee fixed by the Board of Review.

It is understood that, after preliminary consideration of this application by the Secretary, the application may be withdrawn by the institution at any time prior to the completion and filing with the Secretary of the regular schedules used by the Association in accrediting and, in case it is withdrawn, that ten dollars ($10) of the fee will be retained and the balance returned to the institution. In case this application is withdrawn after the regular schedules have been filled out and returned to the Secretary and before the survey of the institution is made, twenty dollars ($20) of the fee will be retained and the balance returned to the institution. Neither the whole nor any part of the fee will be returned to an institution after the survey has been completed. Institutions surveyed on occasions other than the time of application will pay a fee fixed by the Board of Review.

PROCEDURE TO BE FOLLOWED BY JUNIOR COLLEGES APPLYING FOR ACCREDITATION

Junior colleges seeking accreditation will make preliminary application to the General Secretary of the Association rather than to the Secretary of the Commission on Colleges and Universities and, on a form provided for the purpose, will indicate the type of organization and administration under which they operate.

The Secretary of the Association, with the assistance of the Secretary of the Commission on Colleges and Universities and the Secretary of the Commission on Secondary Schools, shall determine whether an institution seeking accreditation operates its program in the college field as a distinct and independent unit or in combination with one or more years in the secondary field. Institutions of the first type shall be classified as Type I; and institutions of the latter type, as Type II.

If an institution is considered to fall into Type I, its application will be forwarded to the Secretary of the Commission on Colleges and Universities, and the procedures of accreditation from this point on will parallel those for senior institutions. If, however, the junior college making application appears to have a program closely integrated with a secondary school or local public school system, information will be collected on special report forms adapted to the peculiarities of this type of school. One member of the examining committee for a Type II junior college will be named by the Board of Review of the Commission on Colleges and Universities, and one will be named by the Administrative Committee of the Commission on Secondary Schools. The reports and recommendations of examining committees of Type II institutions will be acted upon by the Board of Review and the Administrative Committee in joint session. Institutions accredited under this procedure will be included in the list of member institutions published by the Commission on Colleges and Universities and also in the list of secondary schools published by the Secondary Commission. In its dealings with the Association, however, a Type II junior college shall be regarded as a single unit, and separate reports will not be required for its different levels of instruction.

FUNCTIONS OF THE SECRETARIES

Senior institutions seeking accreditation by the North Central Association will make their initial contacts through the Secretary of the Commission on Colleges and Universities. Junior colleges will make preliminary application to the General Secretary of the Association. Application in each case must be made not later than the first day of October preceding the annual meeting.

Upon acceptance of applications, the Secretary of the Commission on Colleges and Universities will send to senior institutions and to junior colleges classified as Type I appropriate schedules for filing the detailed information necessary for a full consideration for accreditation. The schedules must be completed and returned prior to the fifteenth day of November preceding the annual meeting. The Secretary will assemble these schedules, make such preliminary studies of the information as may be necessary, and make them available to the examiners appointed to visit each institution.

In the case of Type II junior colleges, the Secretary of the Commission on Colleges and Universities will function in conjunction with the Secretary of the Commission on Secondary Schools, and these officials will jointly arrange for the surveys.

Visits to institutions by the examiners will be scheduled at a sufficiently early date that a preliminary draft of their report may be in the hands of the Secretary of the Commission on Colleges and Universities at least thirty days before the annual meeting of the Association. The Secretary submits this report, together with any other pertinent data which he may have, to the full Board of Review, some days prior to the annual meeting. (In the case of Type II, junior colleges, the report also goes to the Administrative Committee of the Commission on Secondary Schools.) A preliminary draft of the examiners' report, without their recommendation, will be transmitted to the president of the institution concerned sufficiently in advance of the meeting of the Board of Review to permit him to submit such comment as he may deem desirable.

In all matters relating to accreditation, the Secretary of the Commission on Colleges and Universities shall act as the executive officer of the Board of Review and of the Commission, serve as the channel of communication with institutions, prepare the necessary reports to institutions and to the Association, and perform all the usual duties attaching to such an executive officer. At the close of each annual meeting he will prepare for publication a list of accredited institutions in accordance with the procedure outlined in the Statement of Policy.

Many of the procedures of the accrediting policy of the Association will require more or less constant revision as new information becomes available. The Secretary, therefore, will preserve all records accumulating in his office and make them available as the Association, the Commission on Colleges and Universities or the Board of Review may direct for such studies as may be useful in the improvement of the accrediting activities of the Association.

FUNCTIONS OF THE BOARD OF REVIEW

The Board of Review is the executive committee of the Commission on Colleges and Universities. It acts upon the application of an institution for accreditation and reports its decisions to the Commission on Colleges and Universities. The action of the Commission is final except that an institution may appeal to the Executive Committee of the Association, which in its discretion may confirm, modify, or reverse the action of the Commission.

In the performance of its functions the Board of Review will receive from the Secretary the formal applications of institutions, authorize surveys, appoint examiners, receive through the Secretary the reports of examiners and such additional information as he may lay before them, give full and impartial consideration to such reports, and take appropriate action thereon.

At the annual meeting the Board of Review will report its actions through the Secretary, to the Commission on Colleges and Universities and to the Executive Committee of the Association for acceptance, rejection, or modification, and later it will report to each applying institution the action taken upon its application. At the close of each annual meeting the Secretary will authorize the list of accredited institutions for publication.

FUNCTIONS OF THE EXAMINERS

Each institution applying for accreditation will be visited by examiners whose stay shall be long enough to enable them to form an estimate of the character of the institution and to determine the merit of its application. The examining team will include at least one member from an accredited institution of the same general type (e.g., junior college, teachers college, liberal arts college of simple organization, etc.) as the institution being examined. Examiners will be selected in the light of special circumstances that may relate to the local situation. They will be informed on the nature of the institution being examined and on any special aspects involving public relations.

Before visiting an institution, the examiners will make a study of the schedules collected by the Secretary and will note any items that need verification or amplification at the institution. Upon each important issue involved, this Manual contains comparative data, examples of practice, or other criteria by means of which the data on the schedules can be evaluated.

The examiner's duties at the institution will be as follows:

1. To check the accuracy with which the schedules have been completed
2. To discuss with administrative officers and with the faculty the implications of the available data and such characteristics of the institution as are not covered in the schedules
3. To gather through conferences with staff members and students such additional facts and impressions as will complete the examiner's knowledge of the quality of the institution
4. To fill in and complete the scorecards used for making the pattern map

When two or more examiners join in the examination of an institution, as will be the customary procedure, they will naturally divide the work of inspection, in order that the time may be shortened and the work more thoroughly done. This method also provides that two or more competent judgments instead of one will be available for the guidance of the Board of Review.

Experience has shown that time is usually saved and a better understanding of the relations of the administrative officers to one another obtained if the inspectors hold a conference at the beginning of the survey with the president and the chief administrative officers. This meeting may then be followed by the conferences with the individual administrative officers.

INTERVIEW WITH THE PRESIDENT

The examiner's visit to an institution should be so timed as to meet the convenience of the administration. Ordinarily the first person approached in an institution will be the president. He and his administrative associates should be able to verify, as may be desired, the information given on the schedules, to answer any questions that have arisen in the minds of the examiners when the schedules were examined, to provide such additional information as may be desired, and to indicate what other officers may provide information not available in the president's office.

Some of the particular matters that should be discussed with the head of the institution follow:

1. The purposes of the institution
2. The selection, appointment, and promotion of members of the faculty
3. The records kept by the institution concerning the qualifications and activities of faculty members
4. The quality of the present faculty—the areas in which it is strong or weak
5. The organization of the institution and the administrative units such as schools, colleges, and departments. Particular inquiry should be made as to how essential administrative functions are performed
6. The organization of the faculty, officers, committees, faculty units, and methods of function in meetings

7. The sources and character of the student body
8. The curriculum of the institution—its character, its adequacy, and its relation to the purposes of the institution
9. Instruction in the institution and methods of its improvement
10. The personnel of the board of trustees
11. The functions performed by the board and its committees
12. The degree to which the board has authority to make final decisions affecting the institution
13. The extent to which interested groups of the constituency influence the affairs of the institution in ways other than through the regularly constituted officials of the institution
14. The relation of the board to its executive officer
15. The type of the administrative organization, both in theory and in actual practice, and the smoothness with which the administrative system operates
16. The adequacy of the number of administrative officers
17. The qualifications of the various subordinate staff members in the administrative offices
18. The financial policies of the institution, particularly as they relate to the increasing development of stable sources of revenue for the support of the academic program
19. The general athletic situation, and its bearing on the instructional and financial program of the institution
20. The plans for the development of the physical plant, including plans with respect to features in which improvements, renovations, or additions are needed
21. The budgetary system, including methods of preparing the budget, the manner in which it is presented to the board for consideration, and the control of budget expenditures
22. The plan for managing invested funds, if any
23. The types of special educational activities maintained, such as summer session and extension activities; the reason for the maintenance of such features; and the policy with respect to their financing
24. The system of reports, including such matters as the president's annual report, the treasurer's annual report, reports of deans and department or division heads
25. Plans for fostering investigation and study of institutional problems
26. Institutional policies and practices in student personnel work

This interview should give the head of the institution an opportunity to interpret and evaluate the educational quality of his institution. He should express his judgment as to its strengths and weaknesses, its special contribution to the national structure of higher education, its needs, and lines of future growth and improvement.

INTERVIEW WITH THE DEAN

Although the functions of college deans vary from one institution to another, they normally relate to the faculty, to the curriculum, to instruction, and to student problems. In the case of a particular institution the examiner will already have some information, and more will have been gained from the interview with the president. In interviewing the dean, an effort should be made to discover the administrative activities of the dean; his relations to students; to the recruiting, appointment, and promotion of the faculty; to the organization, direction, and control of the faculty; to the curriculum and instruction; and also to other administrative officers such as the president, the registrar, the business manager, and other deans. This interview should afford the dean the opportunity to reveal his judgment of the educational quality of his institution, his grasp of significant educational problems, and his awareness of current issues in higher education.

INTERVIEW WITH THE REGISTRAR

The chief aim of the interview with the registrar should be to verify and supplement the data submitted on the enrolment schedules and to secure such additional information regarding entrance requirements and practices, methods of registration, guidance, and enrolment as he may provide.

The registrar should give a clear explanation of his own activities and his relation to the activities of other officers such as the president, deans, business manager, and the members of the faculty. His authority and his relation to students should be clearly reported.

The examiner should examine the records of the registrar's office relating to admission, examinations, and student marks. Inquiry should be made as to the methods employed to report the progress of students to the faculty, to parents, and to the student himself.

INTERVIEW WITH BUSINESS OFFICERS

The major officer (or officers, if there are more than one) in charge of business and financial affairs should be interviewed for the purpose of verifying information regarding the financial position of the institution and obtaining information regarding the methods of conducting business affairs. The degree to which business affairs are centralized should be ascertained. The system of financial accounting should be examined to determine whether it conforms to accepted practices and whether the financial data reported are reasonably comparable with those obtained from other institutions. The system of budgetary control, the procedures used in purchasing supplies, and the plans for the collection of institutional revenue should be studied. The extent to which adequate supervision is exercised over the finances of student activities should be investigated. The plans for handling invested funds, the custody of securities, the policies relating to investments, and the distribution of investments among various types of holdings should be discussed with the proper officer. The administrative organization for the care and operation of the physical plant should be studied. The reports previously submitted with respect to such items as income, expenditure, and indebtedness should be tested by a check of original records or audits, in order to insure that all items have been properly interpreted and correctly reported.

INTERVIEW WITH THE LIBRARIAN

The interview with the librarian should have three purposes:

1. To obtain his account of the manner in which records previously submitted to the Secretary's office were prepared
2. To secure his account of the library's relation to the general administration
3. To learn of the interest taken in the library by the instructional staff as a whole and with such reference to individual departments as he may consider important

The holdings of the library should be examined by a sampling procedure to ascertain the extent to which the distribution of holdings reflects the purposes of the institution, the curriculum offerings, and the enrolment by subjects and fields. Examinations should be made of such routines as are established for the recording of information concerning student use of the library and of particular parts of the collection. It is important that the librarian be asked to state uses to which such records are put wherever their use is not obvious.

INTERVIEWS WITH STUDENT PERSONNEL OFFICERS

Included in the group of personnel officers are such individuals as the dean of men, dean of women, director of the health service, nurse, placement officer, matrons of dormitories, and the coaching staff. In consultations with these various individuals the statement of duties and administrative relationships as reported on the schedules should be verified and the attitude toward students and student problems should be determined.

Inquiry should be made relative to procedures employed in counseling students. This will be done by ascertaining from student deans and others connected with personnel work the kinds of student problems evident at the institution and the methods used to aid students in dealing with them. The effectiveness of these procedures and of the institutional agencies for student guidance of extra-curriculum activities, scholarships, loan funds, and health and placement service should be studied.

As a further basis for evaluation, the records which are kept of students' personal histories, of extra-curriculum activities, of scholarship funds, of loan funds, and of the health and placement service should be examined.

INTERVIEWS WITH STAFF MEMBERS

From the data provided in the various schedules, from suggestions direct and indirect, and from the president and deans a number of staff members should be selected for interview. At times, the examiner may meet small groups; at other times, individual interviews may be more desirable.

In staff interviews, the fundamental matters for discussion are: students, curriculum, library, and instruction, although sidelights upon the administration and the tone of the institution will frequently be secured. Appropriate inquiries may be made concerning the organization of the curriculum, the need for expansion or restriction, the methods of handling students, the selection of students, the means of improving instruction, the library, and similar matters. These interviews should reveal the degree to which the faculty is aware of current trends in higher education, of the advent of new methods of student management, of the reorganization of curriculums, of the changing emphasis upon examination practices and the need for their improvement, and of the contribution of experimental studies to educational improvement. In particular, they should reveal the instructor's familiarity with teaching development in his own subject.

INTERVIEWS WITH STUDENTS

It is advisable to consult different students relative to various aspects of the institution. These conferences should be made as informal as possible during visits to fraternity and sorority houses, dormitories, the library, or other places that afford opportunities for informal contacts.

EXAMINATION OF PLANT AND INSTRUCTIONAL FACILITIES

Inspection will be made of the physical plant, including buildings, grounds, and equipment.

REPORT OF EXAMINERS

Following the survey of an institution, the examiners will file the completed schedules, scorecards, and a written report with the Secretary. This report should be based upon the schedules submitted by the institution and the additional information secured during the inspectional visit. It should express the judgment of the examiners upon the educational quality of an institution and should contain a definite recommendation as to whether the application of the institution should be approved or declined. A clear statement of the grounds for the recommendation should be given.

It is not intended that the examiner's judgment will be determined wholly by the factual data available. It is his function to evaluate these data as accurately as possible, but in his inspectional contacts he will gather numerous impressions of existing conditions of a less objective and less tangible character that have a bearing upon the character of the institution. In the light of his total knowledge and impression of the institution, it will be his duty to form a judgment of the competence of the institution as an agency for the higher education of youth. It is this composite judgment of the educational competence of an institution rather than the meticulous conformity to detailed criteria that should be the basis of the recommendation to the Board of Review.

INSTITUTIONAL PATTERN

With the abolition of standards reliance devolves upon the evaluation of an institution as a whole. To make this policy effective, it is necessary to secure accurate information concerning all institutional characteristics which contribute significantly to the character of the institution as a whole.

THE PATTERN MAP

As a means of convenient visual representation of the status of an institution a pattern map will be prepared. This map will be divided horizontally into a number of sections each dealing with the various phases investigated such as: purposes, faculty, curriculum, instruction, library, student personnel service, administration, finance, physical plant, institutional study, and athletics. Under each of the main headings appropriate subheadings will be provided corresponding to the criteria that are noted in this Manual. For each criterion an appropriate vertical scale will be provided that will permit the representation of the relative standing of the institution on that point. A line connecting the points and indicating the standing of the institution on each item will provide a pattern map that will afford a ready visualization of the general condition of the institution as well as an indication of the particular points upon which the institution exhibits unusual strength or weakness.

For the construction of a pattern map for an individual institution there will be provided comparative data for each section considered. On each item a percentile distribution will be available that will permit the location of the institution with reference to a representative group of other institutions on the item concerned. This percentile position for each item will be plotted on the pattern map. The line joining such points provides the general picture of the institutional status. An average performance is indicated by the fiftieth percentile point. The best performance obtained from any institution is the one hundredth percentile, and the poorest performance on each item is the zero percentile.

The use of the pattern map in the accrediting of an individual institution makes possible a flexible procedure. Each of the institutional characteristics for which measures are provided is in itself positively related to educational quality in an institution. The map exhibits the particular excellences and weaknesses of the institution and makes possible a judgment in which all these characteristics are taken into consideration.

It should be pointed out that scales for the different items are not to be thought of as scales of absolute measure. They are based upon the data at hand and represent the best approximation to real values which is now possible, but the scales reflect only the relative status within the group of institutions for which data are now available. As more data become available, the scales will be corrected at many points. In order to make this device usable over a period of years, it is necessary that data be continuously assembled and that, as institutions improve, the scales be frequently readjusted.

As a part of the report made to the Board of Review on each institution considered for accreditation, a pattern map will be presented in accordance with the specifications outlines in this section. The Board of Review shall have power from time to time, as conditions warrant, to change the items entering into the pattern map or otherwise to alter it in the interest of improving the plan of evaluating institutions. The files of data accumulated in the Secretary's office shall be used in establishing percentile distributions serving as normative data to determine the position of specific institutions on each item.

INDIVIDUALITY OF INSTITUTIONS

The section on individuality of institutions in the Statement of Policy does not imply that all differences are important or that all variations in institutional pattern and activity are justified. Many superficial differences have no significance in determining the educational quality of an institution. These will be disregarded in accrediting. Other departures from general practice may really detract from the educational services of an institution and justify the Association in withholding recognition. There are, however, many variations among colleges that appear to be educationally sound; it shall be the policy of the Association to foster and encourage variations of this type.

A brief statement of the areas in which such variations may occur is given here. Many of the implications of this section will be developed in the subsequent treatment of the procedures to be employed in passing judgment upon an institution. The general statements made here will be useful chiefly in suggesting the need for caution in applying general policies of accrediting to individual institutions.

DIFFERENCE OF PURPOSE

Higher education has many and diverse purposes. In some cases an institution will limit itself to a single purpose or to a limited group of purposes. Colleges of engineering, medical schools and teachers colleges are illustrations. Accrediting methods should protect an institution in its unique purposes and encourage it to be the best possible school of its type. So long as a school adheres to a limited purpose, it should not be under pressure to become a different type of school. The expansion or modification of its curriculum, for instance, should be determined by the needs of the particular type of education to which it is committed. A change in the major purposes of an institution will constitute grounds for a re-evaluation of the institution in terms of its modified purposes.

DIFFERENCES IN STUDENT ABILITIES

Over a period of years institutions tend to attract students of a particular type. This tendency is illustrated by uniformity in the intellectual level of entering Freshmen. In this respect wide differences prevail among institutions. Overlappings are common, but central tendencies are fairly distinct, and it is evident that a given institution may minister to a body of young people who, because of differences in intellectual powers, would be out of place in certain other institutions. It is not desirable that accrediting procedures should attempt to reduce all colleges to a common intellectual standard—for instance, by fixing a minimal score on an examination as an essential condition for entrance or graduation.

The Association may legitimately expect an institution to produce evidence that the significant characteristics of its student group are known to those responsible for administration and instruction and that reasonable efforts are made to adjust the activities to the needs of the particular body of students which the institution admits. An institution, however, should not be under pressure to select a particular type of student body, except in so far as the unique purposes of the institution may require students of a particular type.

DIFFERENCES IN CURRICULUM AND INSTRUCTION

Inasmuch as the curriculum is merely the means by which an institution seeks to accomplish certain purposes, it is clear that curriculums cannot be the same for all institutions if purposes vary. It is legitimate to inquire whether a curriculum is consonant with announced purposes, whether it is taught by qualified instructors, and whether it is adequately supported financially and by laboratory and library facilities. Beyond such basic matters as these the institution should be free to select the content and procedures of instruction. Intimate with curriculum and instruction are standards of student achievement. The matter of such standards should remain clearly within the jurisdiction of individual institutions. What the Association will insist upon is sincerity of performance, honesty and fairness with students, and the absence of pretense that the institution is competent to perform certain functions which it is not.

DIFFERENCES IN ADMINISTRATION

Variations from the usual plans of institutional organization and administration may be justified in many cases. The competence of the administrative personnel is important, and inquiry may be made as to whether all the essential administrative functions are performed economically and in such a way as to facilitate educational purposes. Such inquiry should not operate to impose a standardized plan of administrative organization that will be exactly the same for every institution. Initiative in arranging the details of administrative organizations should reside with those responsible for the conduct of the institution, although suggestions may be offered regarding plans that at present seem to be operating most effectively.

OTHER VARIATIONS

The foregoing enumeration of the areas in which the individuality of an institution should be protected is not inclusive but illustrative. Other important variations may occur in student personnel service, in the amount and sources of support, in plant, in extra-curriculum activities, and in many other matters. The crucial question concerning any such variation is: Does it further the achievement of the purposes of the institution; does it detract from such achievement; or is it merely negligible? Unless there is clear evidence that variations are harmful to the declared educational purposes of an institution, they will not be regarded unfavorably by the Association.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF VARIATION

In matters so intimately related to life as education should be, it is of the utmost importance that institutions be kept fluid and adaptable. The constant and continuous effort to improve its work through well-conceived and carefully directed educational experiments is a powerful instrument in keeping an educational institution alert and its work vital. For this reason the Association looks upon efforts at educational experiment as an evidence of vitality in an institution. In fact, it might well feel concerned if, over a period of time, no such efforts were in evidence in an accredited institution. Attention may properly be called to the qualification noted in this Manual that experiments of merit must be "well-conceived and carefully directed." The attempt merely to do something new may be deplorable, indeed, rather than meritorious. Opportunity will be given for each institution to set forth any unique features or practices which, in its judgment, should be protected in accrediting.

V. LIST OF ACCREDITED INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION

EFFECTIVE JULY 1, 1951, TO JUNE 30, 1952

Explanation of dates.—The dates listed are dates of membership. The first accredited list was published in 1913; no institution was accredited prior to that time.

A dash connecting two dates indicates continuous accreditation during the period specified, e.g., 1915-1919 means continuous accreditation from 1915 to 1919 inclusive. A date followed by a dash indicates continuous accreditation to and including the current year.

A semicolon indicates that the institution was on the list for the year or years specified but that it was not on the list for the following year, unless the next entry shows a change of classification for the latter years. For example, Iowa State Teachers College, at Cedar Falls, was on the first list of accredited teacher-training institutions published by the Association in 1913 and was continuously accredited to and including 1916; it was not on the list issued in 1917 but was restored in 1918 and was accredited continuously to and including 1929 as a teacher-training institution, as indicated in the footnote. It was transferred to the list of colleges and universities in 1930.

Designation of extent of program.—The symbol (M) or (D) after the name of an institution indicates that the institution offers a graduate program leading to the Master's or Doctor's degree, respectively. The accreditation of the institution includes its graduate work. Those institutions which are listed neither as junior colleges nor as having graduate programs are Bachelor's degree-granting institutions.

Policy relating to highly specialized institutions.—In March, 1950, the Association took the following action: only higher institutions in which general education, as defined in the Revised Manual of Accrediting, is a major function will be permitted to hold membership in the Association. This policy was effective immediately in the case of institutions applying for accreditation.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMISSION ON SECONDARY SCHOOLS

EDGAR G. JOHNSTON, Secretary

I. REPORT OF THE SECRETARY TO THE COMMISSION

The annual proceedings of the Commission on Secondary Schools, as published in the July issue of the QUARTERLY, summarize the significant actions of the Commission at the annual meeting as well as of the agencies which operate for the Commission between annual meetings. The Proceedings for 1950 are presented in five sections as follows: I. Report of the Secretary to the Commission, II. The Composition of the Reviewing Committees, III. The Summary of Actions by the Reviewing Committees, IV. The List of Member Schools by States, and V. The Text of the Policies, Regulations and Criteria effective for the school year 1951-52. The current section of the Proceedings—the report of the Secretary—presents the activities of the Administrative Committee, the committees of the Commission, the conference of State Chairmen, and the annual business meetings of the Commission.

A. THE ADMINISTRATIVE COMMITTEE

This Committee, composed of the Chairman and Secretary of the Commission, the immediate past Chairman, and four members elected for terms of four years, serves to carry out responsibilities assigned to it by the Commission and to provide continuity between annual meetings. The Administrative Committee held three meetings between the annual meeting of the Association in 1950 and that in 1951. A meeting was held in June, another in November, and one immediately preceding the annual meeting on Monday, March 26. Attention was given at the June meeting to preparation of a budget for carrying on the work of the Commission and its constituent committees. This budget was presented to the Executive Committee, which makes the final decision for allotment of funds. The budget requested (and approved) for the Commission for 1950-51 is presented below:

Office Expense.....	$ 150.00
Office of Secretary (salary of a secretary).....	3,000.00
Secretarial assistance in Chicago.....	100.00
Office of the Chairman.....	400.00
State Committees.....	8,600.00
Conference of State Chairmen.....	2,000.00
Administrative Committee.....	800.00
Committees of the Commission
Cooperating Committee on Research.....	600.00
Contest Committee.....	750.00
Committee on Dependents' Schools.....	225.00
Report Forms Committee.....	1,000.00
Total.....	$17,625.00

At the same meeting the Committee gave attention to the question of relationships among the various Commissions, the Executive Committee, and the Association. The result of its deliberations was presented to the Executive Committee which adopted a bylaw governing the procedures for handling appeals from decisions of the Commission. This bylaw will appear in a subsequent issue of the QUARTERLY. The Administrative Committee also gave further consideration to public relations problems of the Commission and the need for some type of handbook presenting the character and work of the Association to boards of education, lay members of the community, and other interested parties. The Secretary of the Commission served as member of a committee of the Executive Committee to prepare such a document. The resulting handbook "Know Your North Central Association" appeared as a section of the April, 1951 issue of the QUARTERLY and is to be published as a separate pamphlet for widespread dissemination. The Administrative Committee has kept closely in touch with the special committees of the Association, the chairmen of which presented progress reports at the meetings in November and March. At the request of Chairman Sifert, the Committee gave assistance in planning the professional meeting of the Commission and the meeting of high school principals scheduled for the Friday meeting of the annual meeting. The program of these meetings appeared in the April, 1951 issue of the QUARTERLY.

B. THE COMMITTEES OF THE COMMISSION

An important part of the work of the Commission has been carried on through special committees. There are four such committees operating for the Commission on Secondary Schools at the present time—the Committee on Contests, the Cooperating Committee on Research, the Committee on Report Forms, and the Committee on Dependents' Schools. The personnel of these committees is reported elsewhere in this issue in the official roster of the Association. The chairmen of the four committees reported to the Commission at the annual meeting and the report of their activities has appeared in some detail in various issues of the NORTH CENTRAL ASSOCIATION QUARTERLY. It may be appropriate here to comment briefly on certain of the activities for the benefit of those members of the Association who were not in attendance at the annual meeting.

The Committee on Contests has prepared a series of articles dealing with various phases of contest activities in secondary schools. Several of these articles have appeared in the QUARTERLY. Plans call for their publication in the form of a monograph when the series has been completed. Chairman Fisher, for the committee, has attended meetings of associations of speech and music teachers and has carried out extended correspondence with individuals interested in the work and recommendations of the committee. At the annual meeting, representatives of the Music Educators' National Conference, of the National Association of Teachers of Speech, and of the Kiwanis Key Club International spoke on the program and expressed essential agreement with the Contest Committee in its emphasis on the attainment of desirable outcomes for all pupils rather than special attention to a few gifted individuals. It is expected that these statements will appear in the NORTH CENTRAL ASSOCIATION QUARTERLY.

The Cooperating Committee on Research, under the chairmanship of Charles W. Boardman, has worked in cooperation with the Steering Committee of the Commission on Research and Service to explore areas of investigation of concern to the Commission on Secondary Schools, to review proposals for study by the Commission on Research and Service, and to carry out such studies as are particularly the problem of our Commission. Two studies have been undertaken by the Commission on Research and Service at the request of the Cooperating Committee on Research, a study of the preparation of librarians for secondary schools and a study of fraternities and sororities. A study of summer sessions in high schools was made by Stephen Romine for the committee and will be published in an early issue of the QUARTERLY. The committee is at the present time undertaking a study of the General Education Development test.

The Committee on Report Forms, of which Carl G. F. Franzen is chairman, has been concerned with preparation of the annual reports to be submitted by member schools and, in particular, with preparation of the series of Special Reports directed, each year, to one of the Criteria. It has been the purpose of this committee to make these Special Reports an occasion for cooperative study by all members of the educational staff and representatives of the community and, where appropriate, by pupils. The schedule of these reports on the Criteria is presented below.

School Year	Criterion for Study
1948-49	Criterion 1
1949-50	Criterion 2, Sections A, E, F
1950-51	Criterion 2, Sections B, C, D
1951-52	Criterion 5
1952-53	Criterion 3
1953-54	Criterion 4

The Secretary of the Commission serves as the chairman of the Committee on Dependents' Schools which has operated as a sort of "state committee" for schools operated by the Army for civilian and military personnel in occupied countries. The accrediting of these schools has presented some special problems, not only in relationship to the schools but to the other regional associations. In November, 1950 a meeting was held in Atlantic City including representatives of the several regional accrediting associations and of the Armed Services. Several of the agreements arrived at in this meeting may be of interest to members of the North Central Association. The other associations agreed to delegate to the North Central Association the accrediting of American Dependents' Schools in the various theaters of operation, but agreed to accept and endorse our recommendations, so that the accrediting by this body represents reciprocal accrediting by the other associations. It was the feeling of the group that some provision should be made for objective appraisal of new Dependents' Schools applying for membership in the associations so that the impression may not be created that accrediting is simply a rubber stamp procedure. As a result, a recommendation from the conference has been presented to the Secretary of the Army suggesting that some provision be made that new schools requesting membership be visited by some educator approved by the accrediting associations, who will be responsible for making a report on the school making application. Another recommendation of the conference has to do with the special difficulty faced by these schools in maintaining continuity of teacher personnel. Some boards of education have been unwilling to extend leaves of absence of teachers for more than one year. The conference went on record as recommending to the various state departments and to administrators of schools from which teachers in the Dependents' Schools have been secured that extension of leaves of absence be granted for at least an additional year. It was the judgment of the representatives at the conference that the experience of the teacher abroad would be of such value through the broadening of experience by residence in a foreign country as to fully justify special consideration.

C. CONFERENCE OF STATE CHAIRMEN

The Commission on Secondary Schools operates to a great degree as a decentralized organization. State Committees carry a great deal of authority and responsibility for carrying on the work of the Association within their respective states. At the same time it is important that there be some degree of conformity in interpretation of policies from state to state. The plan of holding an annual conference of State Chairmen for the discussion of problems of general concern and agreements on matters of policy was initiated three years ago. The third annual conference was held for two days in October at the Allerton Estate which serves as a conference center for the University of Illinois. The meeting of 1950 was unique in having as invited guests representatives of the two organizations within each state which have membership on the State Committee and whose support is important for an understanding and promotion of the work of the committee and the Association within the state. The president of each state university was invited to attend or to designate a representative and a similar invitation was extended to the superintendents of public instruction in the several states. Ten university representatives and five state department representatives participated in this meeting. The final session of the conference was devoted to a consideration of the relationships of the Association to the universities and to the state departments of public instruction. A representative of each of these organizations was on the program. Mr. Boardman spoke for the Commission, Provost Griffiths of the University of Illinois for the universities, and Dr. Lee Thurston, Superintendent of Public Instruction of Michigan, for the state departments.

D. THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE COMMISSION

The Commission on Secondary Schools held four sessions during the annual meeting, a general business meeting on Thursday morning, a professional meeting on the theme "Education for Improved Family Relations" Thursday afternoon, an executive session of the Commission on Thursday evening, and the Conference of High School Principals with a panel of high school teachers discussing the theme "Innovating Practices in Schools" on Friday evening. Somewhat more than three hundred representatives of member schools were present for an orientation meeting on Tuesday night and the review of reports throughout the day on Wednesday. The papers presented at the general professional meeting of the Commission will, undoubtedly, appear in subsequent issues of the QUARTERLY. The business meeting on Thursday morning was given over to the report of the Secretary of the Commission, a discussion of "The Use of the Evaluative Criteria" by H. C. Mardis of Lincoln, Nebraska, a member of the general committee of the Cooperative Study of Secondary School Standards, reports from the various committees of the Association, and the nomination and election of officers.

Following are some of the more important actions taken by the Commission.

1. The following motion was presented by E. H. Fixley of New Mexico and unanimously carried:

In view of the fact that for many years our Association has enjoyed the fellowship and professional companionship of the delegation from Montana, and now because of their affiliation with the Northwest Association, this convention marks the first gathering that we have not enjoyed their presence, I move that the Secretary be instructed to communicate to the proper officials of the Montana State Committee our friendly greetings and good wishes.

2. On motion of the Secretary as spokesman for the Administrative Committee, the Commission voted to change Regulation 3. (B) of the "Policies, Regulations, and Criteria" to read as follows: "In a school with an enrollment of 200 to 499 pupils, the librarian has completed a minimum of 15 semester hours of library science." The reduction of one hour in the amount of library science required for schools in this category was made in order to adapt to the schedule of library preparation provided by the teacher training institutions in a number of the states where the work is organized into courses of three semester hours each. The change in the Criteria was unanimously adopted.

3. The following slate of officers and Commission members, presented by Stephen Romine, chairman of the Nominating Committee, was duly elected:

For Chairman of the Commission on Secondary Schools—

Earl R. Sifert, Superintendent, Proviso Township High School, Maywood, Illinois

To serve out the unexpired term of Ben Hanna as a member of the Administrative Committee (1953)—

Robert L. Fleming, Principal, South High School, Youngstown, Ohio

For member of the Administrative Committee (1955)—

L. R. Kilzer, University of Wyoming, Laramie, Wyoming

Members of the Commission elected to the Class of 1954—

Art Gorsuch, Principal, Ashland High School, Ashland, Ohio

Henry C. Morehead, Principal, Santa Fe High School, Santa Fe, New Mexico

Charles Martin, N. E. Missouri State College, Kirksville, Missouri

Leonard Havig, Superintendent of Schools, Williston, North Dakota

W. O. Armstrong, Principal, Dunbar High School, Fairmont, West Virginia

*Arthur C. Cross, University of Colorado, Boulder, Colorado

* The many friends of Arthur Cross in the Association will learn with regret of his death on April 12, 1951. Long active in the work of the Commission on Secondary Schools, he was Chairman of the Colorado State Committee from 1930 to 1947, and a member of the Administrative Committee from 1941 to 1945. All who knew him were impressed with the soundness of his judgment and his devotion to the cause of education. His death is a distinct loss to the Association.

V. POLICIES, REGULATIONS, AND CRITERIA FOR THE APPROVAL OF SECONDARY SCHOOLS

AIMS OF THE ASSOCIATION

The object of the Association shall be the development and maintenance of high standards of excellence for universities, colleges, and secondary schools, the continued improvement of the educational program and the effectiveness of instruction on secondary and college levels through a scientific and professional approach to the solution of educational problems, the establishment of cooperative relationships between the secondary schools and colleges and universities within the territory of the Association, and the maintenance of effective working relationships with other educational organizations and accrediting agencies.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

1. An institution should be judged upon the basis of the total pattern it presents as an institution of its type. While it seems necessary that institutions be judged in terms of particular characteristics, it should be recognized that wide variations will appear in the degree of success achieved.

2. It should be accepted as a principle of procedure that deficiency in one field may be compensated for by strength in other fields—no school should be denied accreditation because it fails to meet a specific standard, if its total pattern of achievement is good.

3. A school should be judged, in so far as is possible, in terms of its own philosophy and the purpose which it serves in its own community. The fact should be recognized that individual differences exist among schools and among communities.

4. Criteria should be flexible, and of a type that can readily adjust themselves to changing conditions.

5. Objective criteria should be based upon a sufficient amount of research and experimentation to establish their validity as measuring instruments.

6. While it seems desirable that criteria regard as basic certain characteristics, such as faculty preparation, the intellectual and moral tone of a school, the nature of the school plant, the adequacy of equipment and supplies, the quality of the school library and library service, the condition of the records, the policies of the board of education, the financial status, the teaching load, and the educational program, it should be recognized that considerable divergence from normal standards may occur in one of these characteristics without greatly detracting from the educational merits of an institution. Uniformity in every detail stifles educational experimentation and is not only unnecessary but undesirable.

7. Criteria, to be of maximum value, should be stimulating and conducive to educational growth; they should be instruments for continuous self-evaluation and should provide the incentive to strive constantly toward higher goals of achievement.

POLICIES OF THE COMMISSION ON SECONDARY SCHOOLS

POLICY 1. A school which has submitted its annual report to the State Committee, which is in the highest class of schools as officially listed by the properly constituted educational authorities of the state and which has been approved continuously for five years shall not be dropped without a year's warning except by a three-fourths vote of the members of the Commission present. A school which has not been approved continuously for five years may be dropped without warning.

POLICY 2. It is the policy of the Commission to recommend the removal from the approved list of the Association of any school which, after a year's warning, continues to violate the same Regulation or Criterion which was violated the previous year. Upon the recommendation of the State Committee, however, this policy may be waived by a three-fourths vote of the Commission members present.

State Committees are encouraged to advise a school which has been warned for violation of a Regulation or a Criterion to submit to an evaluation, using the Evaluative Criteria. This evaluation is to be carried out when, in the opinion of the State Committee, it will assist in improving the condition for which the school was warned, or in explaining the extenuating circumstances which may justify a second warning, or even the discontinuance of the warning.

POLICY 3. Secondary schools are approved for an indefinite period. All schools on the approved list, however, shall submit such reports as the Commission may require. The certificate showing that a school is approved by the Association is valid as long as the school meets the conditions for approval as defined by the Commission on Secondary Schools and approved by the Association.

POLICY 4. Credits acquired through summer session work, extension courses, correspondence courses, or state examinations will be accepted by the Association as counting toward the preparation of the teacher, if such credits are accepted by an approved institution of higher education.

The Association recognizes that credit established in accordance with the recommendations in A Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services is sound. Such credit may be counted as a part of the preparation of the teacher, when accepted by an approved institution of higher education.

POLICY 5. The Chairman of the State Committee is the official agent of communication between the approved schools of the state and the Secretary of the Commission on Secondary Schools. He is responsible to the Commission for the distribution, collection, and filing of all reports, and for such other duties as the Association may direct.

The Chairman of the State Committee shall be either the Committee representative of the State University or of the State Department of Education and shall be selected by majority vote of the State Committee, subject to the approval of the Executive Committee. He shall be elected for a term of four years, and shall be eligible to succeed himself, but may continue in office only so long as he is a member of the State Committee.

In the event of a vacancy in the chairmanship during the term of office of an incumbent, the State Committee shall elect a chairman to complete the unexpired term. The meeting for this purpose will be called by the secondary school representative having the longest tenure on the committee.

POLICY 6. The interim authority for interpreting Policies, Regulations, and Criteria for the Approval of Secondary Schools is the Secretary of the Commission on Secondary Schools.

POLICY 7. It is the policy of the Association to warn high schools for violation of the conditions for eligibility to the approved list of the Association and to drop from this list any high school which violates the same Regulation or Criterion during consecutive years. High schools may also be warned or dropped whenever it becomes evident that they frequently violate conditions for eligibility to the approved list. In the case of a minor violation, the Association may instruct the State Committee to advise the school concerned. It is the policy of the Association not to take an action which is different from that recommended by the State Committee without first notifying the committee of the State concerned.

State Committees are encouraged to advise a school which has been warned for violation of a Regulation or a Criterion to submit to an evaluation, using the Evaluative Criteria. (See Policy 2.)

POLICY 8. In the case of individual schools of any state, reasonable deviations from Regulations and Criteria may be accepted by the Commission and approved by the Association when recommended by the State Committee. Such recommendations must be supported by substantial evidence showing that these deviations are justifiable.

No school should be denied approval if it fails to meet fully all Criteria and Regulations, provided its total educational pattern is good, as revealed by the results of a competent survey or other evidence. Policy 8 also applies to new schools seeking admission.

State Committees are justified in expecting closer adherence to published regulations and criteria in the case of new schools. Special attention should be given to the reports of State Committees which have used the Evaluative Criteria as one of the steps to be taken by new schools in making their application for admission.

It is recommended that State Committees ask each prospective new school to carry out at least a self evaluation using the Evaluative Criteria. Such schools should be encouraged to use the full Cooperative Study procedure, supplemented by a review of the self evaluation by a visiting committee or by the State Committee.

The conditions for eligibility to the approved list of the Association are included under two separate classifications:

- A. Regulations.
- B. Criteria for the Evaluation of Secondary Schools.

REGULATIONS

Regulations are those yardsticks which serve to assist schools which are members of the Association with definite guidance as to the necessary minima to be observed. In other words, regulations are floors below which there seems to be agreement that schools may not fall and still be of the type that should be considered good schools according to the Association's Criteria.

REGULATION 1. The Annual Report Blank. The Association is under no obligation to consider a school for unqualified approval unless the annual report blanks have been properly and completely filled out and placed on file with the State Chairman on the dates determined by the Commission.

REGULATION 2. Organization of the School. A secondary school shall base its report on all grades included in its organization.¹

REGULATION 3. *Qualifications of Staff Members.*²

(A) Instructional Staff.

(1) General Preparation. All members of the instructional staff possess a Bachelor's degree from an institution of higher education approved by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools or from an institution of equal standing. (Exceptions may be made when recommended by the State Committee in the case of teachers of trades, if these teachers are legally qualified to teach in the state and have had the apprenticeship training required in their respective trades.)

Graduates of colleges not recognized by the North Central Association or by any other regional accrediting agency may become eligible to teach in a secondary school accredited by the Association by being admitted to graduate standing in an institution of higher education accredited by the Association or by any other regional accrediting agency, and by completing successfully not less than six semester hours of graduate work. This part of the Regulation is not to apply to graduates of non-accredited colleges who desire to teach in the state in which they were graduated, when approved individually in accordance with the policy of the State Committee.

Teachers in school systems having two or more high schools, who are transferred by the administrative officer from one school to another, and ¹ A six-year high school may, with the approval of the State Committee, report upon the upper three years of the school.

² Except where specifically stated (as in the case of library personnel), requirements pertaining to staff preparation are not retroactive and do not invalidate the qualification of a staff member who was fully qualified under the standards applicable at the time of his appointment to his present position.

who, though not fully qualified, have been accepted previously by the Association, when they teach the same subjects in a new school as they were teaching in their former position, shall be accepted by the Association as properly qualified teachers, provided that the system encourages teachers who are not fully qualified to continue their educational preparation, and that evidence exists that progress is being made.³

(2) Professional Preparation. The minimum professional preparation of individual members of the instructional staff is fifteen semester hours of education. In the case of a teacher whose professional preparation consists of less than fifteen semester hours, the State Committee shall have power to waive this Regulation if, in its judgment, the teacher is otherwise highly qualified and is doing clearly superior work.

(3) Preparation in Teaching Areas. Adequate preparation in teaching fields and areas is defined as that which meets the legal requirements of the state in which the school is located and also any special requirements set up by legally constituted educational authorities of the state, provided, however, that the minimum preparation is fifteen semester hours at the college level in any one of the following areas: language arts, a foreign language, social studies, science, mathematics, business, health and physical education, music, art, home economics, agriculture, and industrial arts, and adequate preparation in each subject taught.⁴ In the case of a teacher who devotes a minor fraction of his time to the teaching of a particular subject, a reasonable deviation from the minimum preparation may be accepted when approved by the State Committee.

In the case of unified courses which draw their subject matter from two or more teaching fields, the minimum preparation expected will be twenty semester hours on the college level, appropriately distributed among the teaching fields concerned.

Each State Committee will submit to the Secretary of the Commission on Secondary Schools the requirements of the properly constituted educational authorities of the state pertaining to the preparation of teachers in subject fields and areas.

(4) Records of Teachers' Preparation. An official transcript or a certified copy of the college preparation of each teacher is kept on file in the office of the administrative head of the school or school system. All information which pertains to the preparation of teachers is secured from such official records.

An official transcript is the institutional credit record signed by the registering officer of the higher institution certifying the credits. Its submission to the State Chairman for evaluation may be required. A certified copy of the transcript may be accepted.

(B) *Library Staff.*⁵

(1) Librarian. In schools with an enrollment of 500 or more pupils, the librarian is a full-time librarian. In schools with an enrollment of 200-499 pupils, the librarian may be a full-time librarian, a study-hall librarian, or a teacher-librarian; at least half the time of a teacher-librarian is devoted to the library. In schools with an enrollment of less than 200 pupils, at least two periods a day of the teacher-librarian's time are devoted to the library.

³ In the case of church schools, "school system" is taken to mean a group of schools under the central administrative control of a particular religious order.

⁴ Deductions in mathematics or in any one foreign language may be allowed to the extent of two semester hours for each unit earned in high school, not to exceed a total deduction of six semester hours.

⁵ Regulation 3(B) shall be in force upon adoption, but exceptions may be made by the State Committee until the school year 1955-56.

(2) Professional Preparation. The librarian meets the requirements of Regulation 3A (1) and (2). In a school with an enrollment of 500 or more pupils, the librarian has completed a minimum of 24 semester hours of library science. In a school with an enrollment of 200-499 pupils, the librarian has completed a minimum of 15 semester hours of library science. In a school with an enrollment of less than 200 pupils, the librarian has completed a minimum of 6 semester hours in library science.

The work in library science includes such courses as the following: school library organization and administration, cataloging and classification, book selection and acquisition with emphasis on the reading and needs of adolescents, reference material, and general bibliography.

(3) Assistants. Provision is made for an adequate number of assistants to the librarian, either as assistant-librarians or as pupil-librarians.

(C) Other Professional Staff (physician, dentist, nurse, psychiatrist, psychologist). Members of the non-instructional professional staff meet the requirements of the state in which the school is located.

(D) Clerical Staff. Adequate clerical assistance is provided. The qualifications of such personnel include, as a minimum, high school graduation and preparation in office practice.

(E) Custodial Staff. The members of the custodial staff meet the state requirements pertaining to their training and employment.

REGULATION 4. Administrative Staff.

(A) Principal. The principal (or the administrative head of the secondary school) has had at least two years of teaching experience and possesses as a minimum a Master's degree from an institution of higher education qualified to offer graduate work. His preparation in school administration and supervision includes an appropriate distribution of graduate work covering those phases of the school administrator's work which are professional in character, such as secondary school administration, curriculum making, the supervision of instruction, methods of teaching, philosophy of education, history of education, pupil activities, guidance, health and safety, vocational education, personnel records and reports, and school finance. Anyone who holds the title of principal meets the foregoing requirements.

(B) Superintendent. The superintendent of schools or the administrative head of the school system has the teaching experience and professional preparation described in Regulation 4A.

(C) Supervisory and Guidance Assistants. Any member of the faculty who assists the administrative head of the school in the supervision of instruction possesses, as a minimum, the requirements specified in Regulation 3A (1) and (2), and, in addition, an appropriate distribution of graduate work in such fields as the supervision of instruction in the secondary school, personnel and guidance, methods of teaching, educational psychology, and philosophy of education.

REGULATION 5. Length of School Year. The minimum length of the school year is thirty-six weeks, 180 days, with a minimum of 172 days of classes actually in session.

REGULATION 6. Length of Class Period.

(A) A school may elect to conduct classes on the short period basis, the long period basis, or a combination of the two. The minimum length of the short class period for one unit of credit is defined as 40 minutes, exclusive of all time used in the changing of classes or teachers, five times a week for thirty-six weeks, or 180 days. Under this plan, two class periods necessitating little or no preparation outside of class are considered as equivalent to one period of prepared class work.

(B) The length of the laboratory or long class period, for one unit of credit and for the purposes of this Regulation, is defined as a minimum of 55 minutes exclusive of all time used for the changing of classes or teachers. Under the long period plan, directed study may be substituted for the outside preparation required for the short period class. Under the short or the long period plan, however, a reasonable amount of outside or independent study by pupils in accordance with their abilities is encouraged.

REGULATION 7. Requirements for Graduation.

(A) A three-year senior high school requires a minimum of twelve units, or 120 semester hours, for graduation. Four-year senior high schools require a minimum of sixteen units, or 160 semester hours, for graduation. Six-year high schools require a minimum of twelve units, or 120 semester hours, earned in the upper three years. (See Regulation 2.)

(B) A semester hour is defined as the amount of credit granted for the completion of a course covering one semester and consisting of one class period weekly, as defined in Regulation 6.

(C) In order to permit variation from the foregoing definitions of a quantitative unit of credit based upon time elements and to stimulate improved standards of scholarship, the school may elect to grant credit on a qualitative basis. School authorities, therefore, are encouraged to determine credit through the use of approved end-of-course tests. These tests measure the achievement ordinarily required for credit in a one or two semester course.

Any supplementary evidence which may be considered necessary or desirable to establish the validity of such credit may be required.

(D) State Committees are empowered to approve this plan for those schools wishing to adopt it, provided the school has personnel trained for the administration of such testing program. The scores of such tests may be used for the transfer of credit to other schools and to colleges.

(E) Tests may be used to classify individuals entering school with educational experience for which regular transcripts of credit are not available. Each individual thus tested is placed in the educational courses best suited to his needs.

REGULATION 8. Size of School. An approved school employs, as a minimum, a number of teachers whose full-time equivalency is one in excess of the number of years in the organization of the school.

REGULATION 9. Pupil Load. In order to protect the social as well as the intellectual maturity of the pupil, it is advisable that he have four years experience in a four-year high school or three years experience in a three-year high school in order to graduate.⁶ In exceptional cases, pupils may be allowed to graduate in less than the time specified above, provided that adequate guidance procedures have been followed.

REGULATION 10. Teaching Load. In determining the teaching load, consideration is given to the following components: the number of periods of class teaching, the number of different preparations, study hall duty, class size, total number of pupils taught daily, the demands made in the way of any guidance and supervisory activities, and the duties involved in the sponsorship of pupil activities. Due allowance is made in computing the teacher load for special assignments to committee work whose purpose is to improve any phase of the school program. The desirable maximum equivalency of a combination of such duties is six periods daily for the short period schedule, and five periods daily for the lengthened period schedule. A teaching load in excess of seven periods daily, including study hall assignments, for the short period schedule and six periods daily, including study hall assignments, for the lengthened period schedule is considered a violation of this Regulation. The total teaching load is not excessive and is distributed equitably among the teaching staff.⁷

⁶ If the school has a summer session the time spent may be counted as a proportionate part of the school year.

REGULATION 11. Library Expenditures.

(A) That part of the annual secondary school budget devoted to library expenditures varies according to the size of the school, the smaller the school, the greater the pupil per capita expenditure. A minimum amount of $200.00 is expended annually in each secondary school for the purchase of library books, periodicals, newspapers, pamphlets, vertical file materials, and supplies.

(B) The budget is planned in accordance with the library needs as shown by the annual library inventory and in accordance with the school's objectives for library service. The following scale of annual expenditures is recommended as a guide.

Schools with an enrollment of 1000

⁷ An average enrollment in the school in excess of thirty pupils per teacher is considered as a violation of this Regulation. For the purpose of interpreting this Regulation, the principal, vice-principals, study hall teachers, vocational advisers, librarians, and other supervisory officers may be counted as teachers for such portion of their time as they devote to the management of the high school.

or more pupils expend approximately 50 cents per pupil.

Schools with an enrollment of 500 to 999 pupils expend approximately 75 cents per pupil.

Schools with an enrollment of 200 to 499 pupils expend approximately $1.00 per pupil.

Schools with an enrollment of less than 200 pupils expend not less than $200.00

REGULATION 12. Financial Support. The financial condition of the school district or governing body is such that it is possible for the school to meet the conditions for accreditation and to maintain reasonably well standards of excellence as indicated in the Criteria.

CRITERIA

The standards of excellence which a school holding membership in the North Central Association is expected to maintain are based on statements in the Evaluative Criteria, as developed by the Cooperative Study of Secondary School Standards.

CRITERION 1. Philosophy and Objectives.

(A) Pupil Population and School Community. Since the school exists for the educational needs of its constituency, it should be familiar with the distinctive characteristics of the community, such as its sociological composition, its social, economic, religious, recreational and educational institutions and agencies, and the educational needs of both youth and adults. Since the local community is also a part of the state, nation, and world, the school must also be concerned with an understanding of the social, political, economic, and other forces of these larger communities and with the development of the ability of all peoples to live together in one world. A school, therefore, should develop its philosophy and objectives from an analysis of such social factors.

(B) Philosophy of the School. Each school should be free to determine its philosophy to the extent that it promotes the principles and spirit of American democracy. The statement of philosophy should be written, implemented by a specific statement of objectives, and manifested in the educational program of the school.

CRITERION 2. Educational Program. The educational program of the school is concerned with more than the accumulation of knowledge, development of skills, and improvement of understandings. The development of interests, tastes, appreciations, ideals, and attitudes, and the functioning of all these elements in a democratic society should be included in the educational program.

An educational program which is concerned only with preparation for college can no longer be considered an adequate offering for a school, although preparation for college should continue to be one function of secondary education. The program should provide for the interests, needs, and abilities of all pupils as well as for the requirements of the community and the public supporting the school.

The evaluation of an educational program should be made in terms of the curriculum and courses of study, pupil activities, the library, guidance, instruction, and outcomes.

(A) Curriculum. The curriculum should be chiefly concerned with the orientation, guidance, instruction, and participation of youth in those significant areas of living for which education should supplement the work of other social institutions.

Constant adaptation and development of the curriculum should be a cooperative enterprise engaging all staff members, carried on under competent leadership, and using all available resources. Carefully conducted and supervised experimentation for curriculum development is desirable.

(B) Pupil Activity Program. The pupil activity program should aim to develop desirable social traits and behavior patterns in an environment favorable to their growth. Special importance should be attached to provision for pupil participation through student councils or similar organizations in the administration of those school functions which especially concern the interest and welfare of pupils. The activity program should not only provide opportunity for developing leadership ability but should stimulate active participation of all pupils in appropriate school organizations and community activities.

(C) Library Service. The library is easily accessible to pupils, adequate in size, and attractive in appearance.

Adequate provisions for the school library should include the following: (1) a well-educated, efficient librarian; (2) books and periodicals to supply the needs for reference, research, and cultural and inspirational reading; (3) provision for keeping all materials fully catalogued and well organized; (4) a budget which provides adequately for the maintenance and improvement of the library; (5) encouragement of pupils in the development of the habit of reading and enjoying books and periodicals of good quality and real value; (6) continuous and systematic use of the library by teachers.

(D) Guidance Service. Guidance, as applied to the secondary school, should be thought of as a service designed to give systematic aid to pupils in making adjustments to various types of problems which they must meet—educational, vocational, health, moral, social, civic and personal. Guidance activities should be organized into a definite program in which each staff member is a responsible participant. Where counselors are available, they should be responsible not only for specific activities but for stimulating and assisting teachers in their guidance activities.

(E) Instruction. In the instructional program evidence should be found of: (1) goals or objectives appropriate to the degree of development of pupils and in keeping with the purposes of the school; (2) the selection and use of varied types of teaching and learning materials and experiences; (3) the adjustment of method and organization to conditions and needs of pupils as a group and as individuals; (4) the use of every legitimate means available in the evaluation of progress and quality of learning; (5) a personal relationship of confidence, respect, and helpfulness between teachers and pupils, resulting in similar relationships between school and community; (6) provision for all desirable types of learnings; (7) definite and adequate learning by pupils as an outcome.

The efficiency of instruction, the acquired habits of thought and study, the general intellectual and moral tone of a school, and the cooperative attitude of the community are paramount factors. Only schools that rank well in these particulars are considered eligible for the list of schools approved by the Association.

(F) Evaluation of Outcomes. In the educational program of a good secondary school, major concern should be given to attaining desirable outcomes and to the various kinds of evidence indicating that such outcomes are being realized.

The results of the learning process should include: (1) factual information or knowledge; (2) meaning and understanding; (3) abilities to do—knowledge and understanding combined with skill; (4) desirable attitudes—scientific, social, moral, and others; (5) worthy ideals, purposes, appreciations, and interests; and (6) resultant intelligent participation in general life activities.

CRITERION 3. School Staff.

(A) Instructional Staff. The staff should be a group of individually competent persons, organized into a co-operative body, having common purposes and motivated by the philosophy and objectives of the school. Diversity of preparation and viewpoints is desirable for a well-rounded staff, but its members should have the ability and the desire to work together, cheerfully, harmoniously, and efficiently for the good of the school and its pupils. Each member of such a staff should give evidence of awareness and understanding of educational problems and of continuous professional growth.

The number of staff members should be adequate for the curriculum offered, the school's enrollment, and the special needs of the pupils and the community. The teaching load and the total working load should be such as not to endanger the special needs of pupils.

Each staff member should have broad, general scholarship, thorough preparation in his special field, professional competence, and reasonable social development. In the selection of individual staff members, attention should be given to teaching ability, personality, health, and character. In evaluating the adequacy of the general preparation of the instructional staff, State Committees will take into consideration the extent to which the staff as a whole has completed work beyond the Bachelor's degree, the kind and distribution of college courses taken, the recency of their completion, and other evidences of professional growth.

Teachers should receive salaries adequate to insure a living standard comparable with the social demands on the profession and the worth of their service, as well as to provide security for old age.

(B) Librarian. The library staff has a broad, general education, a good understanding of the school's philosophy of education and of its educational program, and some successful teaching experience. The staff has the ability to work effectively with teachers in finding and using suitable library materials and aids in teaching and learning, to work agreeably and effectively with pupils, and to teach them to find and use library material readily and effectively.

(C) Other Professional Staff. The services of such personnel as physician, dentist, nurse, psychiatrist, psychologist are desirable and should be adequate to the needs of the school.

(D) Clerical Staff. The clerical assistance necessary for an effective program of instruction, administration, and supervision should be provided.

(E) Custodial staff. The number of custodial staff members should be adequate to keep the school plant in sanitary and efficient operation. They should be trustworthy, resourceful, and cooperative.

(F) Health Examination. It is recommended that a health examination be given to every new employee and periodically to every staff employee.

CRITERION 4. *Administration and Supervision.*⁸

(A) The Board of Education. Responsibility for determining the general policies of the school system is entrusted to a governing board, hereafter designated as the board of education. The administrative head of the schools is the chief executive officer of the board of education. Subject to the approval of the board of education, the administrative head is responsible for the selection and assignment of all school employees, the business management of the schools including school plant and equipment, the administration and supervision of the educational program, and the program of public relations. These duties necessitate organization of resources, both material and personal; delegation of duties and authority; and supervision of all delegated tasks and of all individuals to whom authority and responsibility are assigned. The better the administrative personnel, the more efficient will be the organization and management and the greater the probability of the successful attainment of the school's objectives, provided the personnel is always mindful of the primary function of the school—the development of its pupils. Success should be measured in terms of results, not of machinery.

(B) Policies of the Board of Education.

(1) The policies of the board of education are such as to encourage a maximum of educational growth and development. The board of education has a published statement of policy.

(2) The policies of the board of education are such as to attract and retain the services of well-qualified and competent staff members and a well-trained school administrator who is capable of providing effective educational leadership. It is the policy of the board under which an accredited high school operates to employ, promote, demote, and discharge staff members and other employees only upon the recommendation of the administrative head of the school system.

(3) No employee is dismissed during the term of a contract or refused reemployment except at an official meeting of the board of education. The minutes of such a meeting clearly indicate all actions taken by the board. Employees who are to be dismissed or refused reemployment are given reasons for the action taken by the board of education and are given an opportunity for a hearing before official action is taken.

⁸ In the case of private schools or church schools, by "Board of Education" is to be understood the individual or group performing the functions of the board of education which are considered in Criterion 4.

(4) The administrative head of the school system attends all meetings of the board of education except that part of a meeting when his own employment is under consideration.

(5) The board of education deals with staff members and other school employees only through the administrative head of the school system.

(6) The administrative head of the school system is held responsible by the board of education for submitting a carefully planned budget and for the expenditure of money in accordance with the budget adopted. He keeps those members of the staff who have responsibility for the proper expenditure of school funds informed as to the balances remaining in that part of the budget which relates to their departments.

(7) The administrative head of the school system should share with the controlling board responsibility for establishing and maintaining desirable relations with the school's public. Therefore the supporting public should be informed regarding the policies, program, objectives, activities, and plans for the future of the school so that the support of the public be assured for the school's undertakings. There should always be a sympathetic and understanding relationship between the school and its administration on the one hand and its public on the other.

(C) Cooperative Relationships. The working relationships between the board of education and the administrative head of the system, between the administrative head of the system and the principal of the secondary school, and between principal and staff are such as to insure successful and effective administration. Administrative procedures should be carried on by democratic processes which recognize the abilities and contributions of staff members.

(D) Administration. The administration of the school is such as to insure a well-organized and well-managed school, effectively and intelligently supervised, and meeting the needs and interests of the pupils and of the community. Effectiveness of organization, permanency of tenure of all staff members, as shown by the history of the school, and the attitude and support of the community are matters which will be taken into consideration in determining whether the school is eligible for accrediting.

Interference with the administration of the high school by organized groups of teachers or pupils, by the board of education, or by organized groups outside the school, when such interference is likely to result in a lowering of the effectiveness of the educational program, will be considered sufficient grounds for an official visit and inquiry into the condition of the school.

(E) Supervision. Supervision includes the improvement of every phase of the educational program, such as the organization of programs of studies, the revision of curricula, the instructional procedures, the pupil activity program, and the non-instructional activities of staff members. The administrator directly in charge of a secondary school should have ample time during the school day for the administration and supervision of his school.

(F) Administration of the Activity Program. A secondary school should not participate in any district, state, interstate, or regional athletic, music, commercial, speech, or other contest, tournament, congress, or assemblage involving the participation of more than two schools except those approved by the State Committee, or by that organization recognized by the State Committee as constituting the highest authority for the regulation and control of such activities. It should be the responsibility of the State Committee to furnish member schools with a list of approved contests, tournaments, congresses, and assemblages. The State Committee should give prompt action on requests for the approval of activities.

(G) System of Records and Reports. A school should maintain a type of personnel and record system of such nature that it can provide any of the data asked for in the Criteria.

CRITERION 5. School Plant and Equipment.

(A) Building and Site. The school plant should be flexible, adequate in size, and so planned as to facilitate the offering of a modern program of secondary education that is suited to the needs and interests of the pupils and of the community. When a new plant is being planned, or an existing building is to be enlarged or remodeled, plans should contemplate meeting future as well as present needs. The building should be attractive and appropriate in design and should assure the safety and health of its occupants. The site should be large enough to provide ample playground space and should be attractively landscaped.

(B) Library.

(1) Materials. The library should be conceived of as a communications center. The number and kind of library and reference books, periodicals, newspapers, pamphlets, information files, audio-visual materials, and other learning aids should be adequate for the number of pupils and the needs of instruction in all courses offered.

(2) Location and Equipment.

(a) The library room, or combination library-study hall, should be easily accessible, should accommodate approximately ten per cent of the enrollment, should be attractive in appearance, and should contain standard library equipment, such as: reading tables, desks or desk-chairs, chairs, librarian's desk, cabinets for card catalogs, magazine and newspaper racks, dictionary stands, and filing cabinets. In judging the adequacy of library space, consideration should be given to modifying factors in individual schools and to the extent to which library facilities are decentralized.⁹

(b) The record system should include a shelf list, alphabetically arranged card catalogs, an accession record, and should be classified by the Dewey Decimal system or other classification system acceptable to the State Committee. The central library may be supplemented by departmental or classroom libraries of frequently changed materials appropriate to the work of individual classes.

(C) Sanitation. Janitorial service, lighting, heating, ventilation, water supply and drinking fountains, lavatories and toilets, wardrobes and lockers, school furniture, and location of the classrooms, shops, laboratory, and library should be such as to insure hygienic conditions for pupils and teachers.

(D) Safety. Proper steps for protecting pupils against injuries should be taken in laboratories, shops, gymnasiums, transportation facilities, and in all parts of the building or grounds where accidents are likely to occur. The school plant should be adequately protected against fire and should have fire exists.

(E) Instructional Equipment and Supplies. Instructional equipment and supplies, such as: science apparatus, laboratory tables and demonstration desks; shop tools and machinery; gymnasium equipment and supplies; equipment for home economics and agricultural laboratories; equipment and supplies for commercial, art, and music rooms; audio-visual aids equipment; maps and charts; library books, text books, and supplies should be adequate and used in such a way as to meet the needs of instruction for all courses and activities offered.

(F) Special Services. Adequate provision should be made according to the individual needs of each school for such special services as rest rooms, cafeteria, dining rooms, kitchens, clinics, infirmary facilities, and study and sleeping quarters.

(G) Protection of Pupil Records, Care and Storage of Equipment and Supplies. Ample provision should be made for the safekeeping, systematic arrangement, and care of all materials, supplies, and apparatus used in the instructional and activity program, and the storage of all financial and personnel records and reports. An annual inventory is made of all equipment and supplies. A fireproof vault should be provided, or a safe which meets underwriters' specifications.

state university should refuse or fail to designate a member of the faculty to serve on the State Committee on Secondary Schools, and/or in the event that the superintendent of public instruction or commissioner of education should refuse or fail to designate a member of his staff to serve on the State Committee, the Executive Committee of the Association shall fill such vacancies by nominating for election by the Association persons recommended by the Commission on Secondary Schools.
